

After the postman reported the witch,
His bike and direction needed to switch,
Away from the police and off to the woods,
To find a sweet girl who was partial to hoods.

He found her shut up and safe in her home,
He pushed in a card which had travelled from Rome.
It was here the bad wolf was hiding away.
And getting quite hungry his letter did say.

